Dreams

A boy sat alone in his old broken bed with thoughts of the day dancing round in his h_____,
But as the boy slept it was always the same, the thoughts disappeared but no dreams ever c_____,
The boy felt alone as his friends always claimed, of adventures asleep both exciting and s_____,
So one day he woke early, put his sack on his back, and he shut the front door with an almighty thwack.

And he said to the world...

Today is the day where I find the key and unlock my dreams, just you wait and s_____!

His adventure began in an old grassy field, with an old wooden mill, its front door a great shield,
As he pulled at the shield, a great army of mice, attacked from behind while protecting the rice,
The boy stepped back, oh now what should he do, and then as he stepped back a stormy wind
b_____.

It knocked down the mice and they fell down as one, the boy stepped over the mice and his journey began.

And he said to the world.

Today is the day where I find the key and unlock my d_____, just you wait and see!

At the end of the mill was a rusty old door, and in front a mole stood, eight feet high from the f_____,

And he smiled as he sang then he looked at the boy, 'You're here to find dreams and in that to find j_____?'

The boy smiled politely and nodded his head, and the mole laughed out loud and then turned and then f_____.

The boy slowly entered and stepped into the light, a world opened up that was wondrous and b_____.

And he said to the world...

Today is the day where I find the key and unlock my dreams, just you _____ !

Each step was a journey, each breath was a treat, with candy clouds circling a pirate clowns fleet,

He walked on the air and he danced on the moon, and he saw a duck teaching the cow a new t_____,

This place was amazing, this place was the best, but this place was soon gone and in place was a test.

A maze of high trees set in mountains each side, the boy ventured on vouching never to h_____.

And he said to the world.

Today is the day where I find the key and unlock my dreams, just you wait and see.

The maze was dark, built with scary old tricks, like monsters that chased and to walls made of
b_____.

But the boy undeterred ducked and weaved on the run, and even Stone Trolls couldn't stop the boys f_____.

And the maze although tiring became quite a game, as he got to the middle and the flag set to claim,

And a clock man stood waiting while watching disguised, and then rattled away, the boy opened his e_____.
